Debt-Worried E-Marine Loses Gun Battle to Cops

San Francisco (CP) — A debt- pressed sailor in the face of an armed resistance from a group of people, lost his life during a gun battle in the city's Chinatown district.

The sailor, identified as John Smith, 25, was reportedly involved in a dispute over unpaid debts. He attempted to resist arrest by opening fire on the police officers who had surrounded him.

The offiers fired back, and the sailor was hit by at least three bullets. He later died at the scene.

The incident occurred in the early morning hours when police responded to a report of a disturbance.

The police said they were still investigating the circumstances of the sailor's death.

The area has been the site of several similar incidents in recent days.

Fitting for a Queen

CHRISTMAS TREEДЕЕS are in the News at the Central Park Zoo in New York this week. The animals are being fed a special diet to prepare them for the holiday season.

HOME TO WHITE Queen Labor Revolt Kills Exile Ordered For African Chief

London (CP) — Prime Minister Chaim Bevis has ordered the execution of a labor leader who is said to have plotted against the government.

The labor leader, identified as Robert Smith, was found guilty of treason. He was sentenced to death for his role in a plot to overthrow the government.

Bevis said that the labor leader's actions were prejudicial to the security of the state. He said that the government was committed to maintaining law and order.

The labor leader was arrested in a raid on his home. He was being held in a high-security prison.

In other news, the British government has announced that it will not negotiate with the labor leader.

Indo-China War Is Just Like Combat in Pacific Boondocks

BRAQ (AP) — The Indo-China War is just like combat in the Pacific Boondocks, according to a veteran who has served in both areas.

The veteran, who is now serving in Indo-China, said that the conditions are similar in both areas.

He said that the soldiers in Indo-China are facing a hostile population that is determined to resist them.

The veteran said that the soldiers in Indo-China are fighting for their lives every day.

He said that the soldiers in Indo-China are more individualistic than those in the Pacific Boondocks.

The veteran said that the soldiers in Indo-China are more willing to take risks.

He said that the soldiers in Indo-China are more aggressive than those in the Pacific Boondocks.

The veteran said that the soldiers in Indo-China are more skilled in tactics.

The veteran said that the soldiers in Indo-China are more disciplined than those in the Pacific Boondocks.

The veteran said that the soldiers in Indo-China are more adaptable than those in the Pacific Boondocks.

The veteran said that the soldiers in Indo-China are more resilient than those in the Pacific Boondocks.

The veteran said that the soldiers in Indo-China are more determined than those in the Pacific Boondocks.

The veteran said that the soldiers in Indo-China are more resolute than those in the Pacific Boondocks.

The veteran said that the soldiers in Indo-China are more resolute than those in the Pacific Boondocks.